Graduates reconnect at HRUC's first alumni event

Alumni had the chance to reconnect and make new friends at Harrow, Richmond and Uxbridge Colleges' (HRUC) first alumni networking event.

The vibrant evening at Finsbury Square Garden Bar on Thursday 24 September brought together HRUC graduates from across two decades. Attendees enjoyed catching up on what they've been up to since graduating, reminiscing over college life, and sharing insights into their careers.

Uxbridge College alumnus Ryan Rankin said: “I really enjoyed the HRUC alumni event, as I found it to be a great opportunity to meet other people who have gone through a similar journey like me, and to hear about their experiences in college as well.

“I met some really interesting people at the event and got to hear about where HRUC has led them in their own career developments.

“I would definitely attend other alumni events when the college hosts them in the future.”

Dipika Patel, Events Content Producer at HRUC, said: “Our first alumni event was a fantastic opportunity for former students to reconnect and share their experiences from their time at college. It was great to see that many continued chatting after leaving the event, building meaningful connections and lasting friendships.”

As one of the largest further education college groups in England, HRUC is committed to helping learners achieve their ambitions and progress into successful careers. When students complete their studies, they join our network of brilliant students making an impact across industries worldwide.
